GENERASI AL-QURAN

AL-QURAN
MEMBERI

KHABAR GEMBIRA.

Sesungguhnya Al-Quran ini memberikan petunjuk kepada (jalan) yang lebih lurus dan memberi khabar gembira kepada orang-orang Mu'min yang mengerjakan amal soleh bahawa bagi mereka ada pahala yang besar,

Al-Isra' : 9

Berilah khabar gembira kepada...

01

Orang-orang yang beriman dan beramal soleh (Mu'min)

Dan sampaikanlah khabar gembira kepada orang-orang yang beriman dan berbuat baik, bahawa untuk mereka disediakan syurga-syurga yang mengalir di bawahnya sungai-sungai. Setiap kali mereka diberi rezeki buah-buahan dari syurga, mereka berkata, "Inilah rezeki yang pernah diberikan kepada kami dahulu." Mereka diberi buah-buahan yang serupa dan di sana mereka (memperoleh) pasangan-pasangan yang suci. Mereka kekal di dalamnya.

[Al-Baqarah : 25]

02

Hamba-hamba Allah: Menjauhi Toghut, mereka yang kembali kepada Allah, mendengar & mengikut kata-kata yang terbaik.

Dan orang-orang yang menjauhi Toghut (yaitu) tidak menyembahnya dan kembali kepada Allah, mereka pantas mendapat berita gembira; sebab itu sampaikanlah kabar gembira itu kepada hamba-hamba-Ku (yaitu) mereka yang mendengarkan perkataan lalu mengikuti apa yang paling baik di antaranya. Mereka itulah orang-orang yang telah diberi petunjuk oleh Allah dan mereka itulah orang-orang yang mempunyai akal sehat.

[Az-Zumar : 17-18]

03

Orang-orang yang berbuat baik (Muhsin)

Daging (haiwan kurban) dan darahnya itu sekali-kali tidak akan sampai kepada Allah, tetapi yang sampai kepada-Nya adalah ketaqwaan kamu. Demikianlah Dia menundukkannya untukmu agar kamu mengagungkan Allah atas petunjuk yang Dia berikan kepadamu. Dan sampaikanlah khabar gembira kepada orang-orang yang berbuat baik.

[Al-Hajj : 37]

Berikanlah khabar gembira kepada orang-orang yang sabar. (yaitu) Orang-orang yang apabila ditimpa musibah, mereka berkata, "Inna lillaahi wa innaa ilaihi raaji'uun."

04

Orang-orang yang bersabar: Apabila ditimpa musibah mereka berkata kalimah istirja' (Innalillahi Wa Inna Ilaihi Raaji'un)

Dan Kami pasti akan menguji kamu dengan sedikit ketakutan, kelaparan, kekurangan harta, jiwa dan buah-buahan. Berikanlah khabar gembira kepada orang-orang yang sabar. (yaitu) orang-orang yang apabila ditimpa musibah, mereka berkata, "Inna lillaahi wa innaa ilaihi raaji'uun. (Sesungguhnya Kami adalah milik Allah dan kepada-Nya-lah Kami kembali). Mereka itulah orang-orang yang dilimpahi dengan pelbagai kebaikan dari Tuhan mereka dan Rahmat, dan mereka adalah orang-orang yang mendapat petunjuk.

[Al-Baqarah : 155-157]

Orang-orang yang tunduk & patuh (Mukhbit): Apabila disebut nama Allah gementar hati mereka, mereka sabar, mendirikan solat & menginfaq sebahagian harta.

Dan bagi setiap umat telah Kami syariatkan penyembelihan (kurban), agar mereka menyebut nama Allah di atas rezeki yang dikaruniakan Allah kepada mereka berupa haiwan ternak. Maka Tuhanmu ialah Tuhan Yang Maha Esa, karena itu berserah dirilah kamu kepada-Nya. Dan sampaikanlah (Muhammad) kabar gembira kepada orang-orang yang tunduk patuh (kepada Allah). Iaitu orang-orang yang disebut nama Allah, gementarlah hati mereka, dan orang-orang yang sabar terhadap kesusahan yang menimpa mereka, dan orang-orang yang mendirikan solat, dan meninfaqkan sebahagian rezki yang kami berikan kepadanya.

[Al-Hajj : 34-35]

06

Orang-orang yang berkata, Tuhan kami adalah Allah kemudian mereka tetap pendirian (istiqamah).

Sesungguhnya orang-orang yang berkata, "Tuhan kami adalah Allah" kemudian mereka meneguhkan pendirian mereka, maka malaikat-malaikat akan turun kepada mereka (dengan berkata), "Janganlah kamu merasa takut dan janganlah kamu bersedih hati; dan bergembiralah kamu dengan syurga yang telah dijanjikan kepadamu."

[As-Soff: 30]

Before you think of losing hope...

He loves to meet you...

The Prophet PBUH said, "Allah the most Great said:

"If My servant likes to meet Me, then I like to meet him, and if he dislikes to meet Me, then I dislike to meet him"

[Hadis Bukhari]

Muslims will be happy when death arrives. After hearing about Allah SWT, His love, His mercy and generosity, we are waiting for the moment to meet the Lord that we loved and worshipped all our life.

He wants to forgive you...

Our beloved prophet Mohammad PBUH said:

"The one who repents from a sin becomes as if he never sinned before."

[Hadis Tirmizi]

Make a decision to repent immediately and sincerely from all those sins and bad deeds, it will erase them all as if they never occurred. All those sins will turn into good deeds which you will be proud of on the Day of Judgement.

He wants to be pleased with you...

Allah SWT says in surat Al-Fajr:

"O soul at peace! Return to your Lord, well-pleased and well-pleasing. Enter, then, together with My [righteous] servants! Enter My paradise!"

[Al-Fajr : 27-30]

The believer's soul is at peace with its Lord, certain of its way and confident of its fate. It is a soul satisfied in all eventualities, happiness or affliction, wealth or poverty. It entertains no doubts; it is free from transgressions.

He wants you to think well of Him...

The Prophet PBUH said, "Allah the most Great said:

"I am as My slave thinks I am, so let him think whatever he wants."

[Hadis Bukhari & Muslim]

The happiest day of our life is the day we meet Him as a mercy from Him not because we deserve it but because He is the most merciful.

May Allah SWT allow us to perform as much good as we can in our short time in this life, forgive our shortcomings and allow us never to lose hope in the Mercy of Allah. May we always seek and be embraced in His Ocean of Mercy. We ask Allah to let us meet Him when He is pleased with us. Look forward to that moment and work hard towards it!

Happy Marriage

01

Love each other for the sake of Allah

- Realize that love is a choice not just a feeling
- Be grateful for every little thing

Truly happy Muslim couples engage in winning Allah's pleasure together whenever and in any way. Our spouses are an immense favor and blessing of Allah upon us: they are an irreplaceable source of spiritual, emotional, mental and physical comfort.

"... If you are grateful, I will surely increase you [in favor];

[Ibrahim : 7]

When they are grateful everyday for each other, so Allah increases the happiness they find in each other, just like He promised.

06 Guilt and Envy-free Parenting

By Dr Udlana Jamalludin

Founder of The Wayfaring Muslim Parent FB

Specialist in Psychology, Education and Parenting Research

Saccharine images with serene babies, grinning cuddly toddlers, and doe-eyed darlings adorn the walls of your newsfeed. Their homes are filled with rows of award-winning kids' books and toys arranged with engineered precision. Their families always look happy. Your heart aches with envy.

"Why can't my children and my home look like this?" you ask yourself, as you wearily glance at your humble abode. No words can describe your exhaustion. You have not conquered that Everest-high laundry and dish mountains. You still have to run errands, swim through a flood of emotions and cycle your way to sanity. Even a real triathlon is not that rigorous. You do realise that an emotional triathlon is worse. "Am I a good Muslim mother?" you question yourself again as guilt takes over.

You even tell yourself, "I still need to make time to nurture the hearts of my little ones." Just as you start reading that new book, finger paint with your little Picasso, or recite Quran with your little huffaz, a tornado sweeps through the house. Someone needs cleaning or a fight needs to be broken with HERculean strength (mama-strength). By then you have lost your mood. You have probably lost your temper and feel awful afterwards.

Dear weary parents, if such things happen, always remember, that it is not your children who are testing you. It is Allah who is testing you⁽¹⁾. Seek His help in the matters of your family. Dzikir to calm yourself down. Kiss and hug your children, and press the reset button for the next day to be better. Let go of that parenting guilt.

Dear weary parent, do not ever think that others walk their parenthood in a park, while you walk yours on a tightrope. You feel that you are not being a good Muslim parent if you do not perform solat Jemaah with your children 5 times a day, sing to them nasyeds every night, read 10 pages of the Quran together or bring them to masjid every day, while juggling housework. Some of you also work long hours outside. Others seem to have it all. Let go of that envy. You do not know what lies behind curtains in the lives of other families.

Remember that Allah sees your effort. Allah knows what your heart contains. Allah says that He will not burden you more than you can bear⁽²⁾. If you can afford to sing only one nasyeed or read one book a day, then let it be. If you can only recite one surah to your baby, then let it be. If you can only bring them to masjid once in a while, let it be. Remember Allah loves the deeds that are little, but consistent. They need not be "Insta-Facebook-Pinterest" worthy. But they are definitely worthy in Allah's Eyes. Worthy because of the sincerity behind these acts of worship, in spite of your situation.

Dear weary parent, it is ok to cry when overwhelmed. His Love embraces you. Seek Him. Even if your world twirls in a dizzying manner, seek Him. Even if you are still on the tightrope and trying to juggle 1001 responsibilities, seek Him. Even if everything is also calm and your children are sleeping peacefully, seek Him. Because in the Quran, you know that seeking Allah through patience and prayer, and it is indeed difficult except those who are humble.⁽³⁾ Hence with humility, it is easier seek Him, in both good and bad times. Being envious mean you lack humility. Fight envy with gratitude, and humility comes naturally.

Finally, remember that our children are on loan. If the bank loans you money, you will be punished with interest and strict deadlines. Your journey to repay your debt is painful. You lose more than you gain. However, Allah is Most Generous. He has given us children on loan to reward us. Our journey is full of joy and love. Our final destination is to be close to the Creator of our children. We gain much more. Our deadline however, is the time when we are called back to Him. So even when you are busy, tired or overwhelmed, always make du'a for your children. Don't deprive them of the parents' du'a because we too have a deadline. And as long as you make the highest du'a for your children, there is no need for you to feel too much guilt. Simply because, you have handed over your affairs to Allah. Our du'a will always help them through, long after we are gone, InsyaAllah. After all, spending your energy with the best du'a a parent can make, is more worthwhile than burning our hearts with envy of other parents and pangs of guilt.

O Allah, make us and our offsprings among the righteous and those whom You Love, Ameen.

⁽¹⁾ Surah Al-Ankaboot : 29 : 2

⁽²⁾ Surah Al-Baqarah : 2 : 286

⁽³⁾ Surah Al-Baqarah : 2 : 45

Dear weary parent, it is ok to cry when overwhelmed. His Love embraces you. Seek Him. Even if your world twirls in a dizzying manner, seek Him.

4 Snippets of My Amazing Journey With The Quran

If I were to be honest, I wish I had a closer relationship with the Quran. The relationship has improved over the years, but it could be much better. Early years were spent at classes with the Quran in tow, reciting it but not quite understanding it.

It was only during a difficult period of my life that I found solace in the words of the Quran - Ustazah Yasmin Mogahed had brought me much peace through her article about letting go of our handhold on Dunya, and I began to read her book, curious about her insights on life and her reflections on the words of the Holy Book. "With every hardship comes ease (94 : 6)", she reflected that it was not that ease was to follow hardship, but they came together as a package. Two sides of every coin.

I also found inspiration and lessons through the stories of the Quran - the strength and faith of our prophets, the tragedy that fell on the people of Lut. These stories were relayed by various teachers, may they be blessed in the Hereafter for highlighting these stories to us. One teacher mentioned these stories as a way to get through to the core of us as human beings, for we respond so much better to stories than hard rulings and straightforward guidance.

The Quran is also a reminder to me in my solah everyday, though I can't memorise long surahs yet, there is plenty to reflect on from the short but impactful ones.

The Quran to me, gives life and death meaning - it inspires, comforts, reminds. And this is only possible when I am intentional about it - to learn from teachers, to reflect on its words, to seek comfort through it and not from other sources. May we seek guidance from it more intentionally every day.

Diana Yusoff

Coming back to the Quran makes me feel special because I know for certain that I'm reading the word of God. When I'm with the Quran, I feel a strong connection with my relationship with my Creator.

I also find that the Quran is special - when I haven't recited it for a while and I keep tumbling on the ayah, I feel scared because it's a reminder that I haven't been in touch with my Creator. Perhaps I've misused my tongue by gossiping about someone.

When I'm able to recite and reflect, and especially when I get to do it with a group of friends in a halaqah, I feel really good because Allah gives me the privilege to connect with His words.

Nurul Musfirah

It was my parents who introduced me to the Quran. As a child, I was told to frequently read Surah Yasin, Al-Mulk and Al-Waqiah. I didn't read other parts of the Qur'an and only focused on these 3 surahs.

I restarted my journey with the Qur'an again in 2014. I met an Ustazah and would go to her home every Friday evening to sharpen my reading with tajweed. Despite the fatigue of work, I always looked forward to her classes. Whenever I read the Quran I feel blanket of calm engulf me. I've finally read the Qur'an from cover to cover and I'm so grateful for this blessing and achievement. I make it a point to read the Qur'an regularly now and I look to the Qur'an for comfort when I am feeling sad. I really feel a connection with Allah when I do so.

Ruqayyah Idrus

Someone once shared this excerpt and it resonates with me greatly:

"We sometimes imagine people who have Quranic relationships as those who spend hours in the masjids or at home, dedicating their precious days and nights to memorization and review.

But you know who also has an impressive relationship with it? People like you. People who are full time moms or dads and who, despite their crazy parenting schedule still find time to read a verse. Those who work full time and despite their tiring commute, listen to the Quran in the car. Those who are full time students and despite finals week, still make time to read the translation. Those who memorize a verse during their breaks.

You can be the people of the Quran. Don't sell yourself short and think you need to travel to another country and take time off before you begin the journey. The people of the Qur'an are everywhere; working in arcades performing surgeries, being dedicated parents and caregivers, working at in tech of a newsroom or a salon or a classroom or studying full time. The people of the Quran looks like you."

I tear up every time I read this excerpt. It reminds me that anybody can have an amazing relationship with the Quran. We just need to take the first step.
